

Career Exploration Week 2010

The Institute of Applied Technology (IAT) celebrated its 'Career Exploration Week' from 10 to 14 January, 2010 at each IAT Campus in United Arab Emirates.

I have been invited by The Administration of IAT (Ras Al Khaima Campus) to participate on seminars and present my Unique Experience in Fukui.

More than 20 Companies and 15 Universities and Colleges attended this Career Week throughout all campuses to showcase opportunities and offers to enable the future graduates apply for Jobs, Universities or Sponsorships that suit them.

About 300 UAE national IAT students in various specialties attended the Career Week seminar.

I made a presentation called "My Exchange Experience in Fukui". The idea of the presentation was to analyze and show UAE national IAT graduate students the amazing social life and professional academic environment in Fukui Prefecture and Japan as well.

After that, I added that Fukui Prefecture has beautiful, breathtaking scenery that lets you relax and feel the harmony of nature through every season.

I introduced to them various traditions that passed down for generations and the attractions that made Fukui one of the most preferable destinations for tourism and sightseeing. Also I showed them the plenty delicious food that you will never forget.

I talked about our responsibilities in improving and encouraging Cross-Cultural Relationships between Japan and United Arab Emirates.

I concluded the presentation by saying: Joy, Knowledge and Happiness could not be felt unless if you have been to Fukui.

Finally, I encouraged the new graduate student to take the chance and to live the extraordinary experience that is living in Fukui.
